With the low cost DDS Generator AD9850 (Direct Digital Synthesizer) from Devices, it is now easy to build an wide range oscillator for measurement purpose. It looks like, that the filter was designed for an AD9851, and the output. The most important tool is the circuit analyzing program LTspice from Linear Technology.
It's been a few years now since I built this project and the signal generator is still on the inputs and the connectors are TNC. I got started on a control circuit for it.
